2406 INSULATION VACUUM

The Star Machine 2406 Insulation Vacuum is one of the most powerful insulation vacuums on the market. With the famously reliable 24 HP Honda® engine that comes with electric start, low oil protection, and a running hour display, you know this vacuum is going to last. We also included a 12-volt battery and battery case to match. Each 2406 Vacuum has a 6" inlet with a 6" to 4" reducer included, 6" outlet, and an electronically balanced eight fin, 20" impeller entirely crafted from 1/4" back plate steel, designed not only to create maximum suction, but to also shred the insulation materials that it collects for easy disposal - these vacuums are built to make the job of insulation removal easier than ever.

We have seen the 2406 Vacuum collect, shred, and dispose of entire batts of insulation. The 6" inlet is offset from center of the impeller to optimize airflow and reduce any collection of insulation in the vacuum. This keeps the vacuum running smoothly all day.

All 2406 Insulation Vacuums come with a portable 5.5 U.S. Gallon gasoline tank for safe refueling and easy transport.

The Truck Mounted 2406 Insulation Vacuum from Star Machine is specially made to be mounted on a truck or trailer. This is ideal for rigs set up specifically for large insulation removal jobs where you know you will always need your Star Machine Vacuum on site to get the job done quickly.

This custom configuration permits a permanent or temporary floor mounting in any of your trailer or truck rigs.

The Mobile 2406 Insulation Vacuum from Star Machine is the ideal all around insulation vacuum, with 16" pneumatic wheels, and a wide grip handle - the Mobile 2406 Vacuum is ready to go where ever the job takes you. We have carefully balanced the weight of the vacuum for ease of mobility, and constructed the entire cart from heavy duty steel.

The removable handle decreases the footprint of the vacuum for easy transport or storage.
